WE WON'T FIGHT, DECLARE PACIFISTS

GOVERNMENT SEVERELY CRITICIZED FOR DECLARING WAR WITHOUT SUBMITTING QUESTIONS TO PEOPLE.

New York, June 2.—Support of "conscientious objectors" to the draft law was pledged in a resolution presented today to the so-called first American conference on democracy and terms of peace, in session here. Many socialists are attending the conference.

Several speakers severely criticized the government and a telegram was read from former Senator Works, of California, in which Mr. Works said: "We dishonored ourselves by declaring war without adequate or reasonable cause." He added that if the issue had been left to the people the country would have been at peace.

Gilbert E. Roe, president of the Free Speech League of America, declared that "within the last sixty days we have completely transformed our government and the people have had nothing to say about it."

"Somewhere along the line," he added, "the voters must have a chance to express themselves."

Norman L. Thomas charged that the "attempt to force a man to fight is worse than the imposition of chattel slavery."

The report of the committee on "American liberties," which the Rev. Richard W. Hogue, director of the civic forum of Baltimore, is chairman, urged abolition of "secret diplomacy," and added: "We demand democratic control of our foreign policy. We call for a referendum on questions of war and conscription. We insist on discussion in congress, in the press and in public meetings."

With reference to conscription and "conscientious objectors," the report said:

"It is contrary to American tradition to force them to enroll for war service against their conscience."

"We also declare," the report added, "that all Americans are entitled to passports to neutral countries. Legislation now pending in congress if passed will make this country more autocratic than Russia under the rule of the czar."

James H. Maurer, president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor, demanded of the conference: "Shall we accept war?" There was a chorus of "no," and shouts of "we won't fight!" and "we won't go to Europe!"

Maurer went on to say he had never been arrested in his life, whereupon some one yelled "Shame!"

Miss Rebecca Shelley, who also spoke, urged the formation in this country of a "peoples' council" to be modeled after the council of workers and soldiers' delegates in Russia.

Miss Fola La Follette, daughter of the senator from Wisconsin, who voted against the declaration of war, submitted a report on permanent organization. This in part recommended that a committee be appointed to go at once to Washington to present the resolutions of the conference and ask the president for the terms on which the administration would be willing to make peace.

Resolutions declaring that "an opportunity has been created for bringing the war to an end in the manner most favorable to the people in all lands," and calling on the government of the United States to issue "a definite and concrete statement of its war aims and its terms of peace," were adopted.

Thousands of persons were turned away from the meeting after Madison Square Garden had been filled, and the fire department directed that no more be allowed inside. Several hundred extra policemen were on duty in the vicinity and two fire engines, with fire ladders and hoses attached, were stationed nearby in readiness for any disorder. The meeting, however, was entirely free of any signs of violence.

Five persons, one a woman, were arrested after the meeting charged with distributing anti-conscription literature about the garden. When arraigned in night court all the prisoners said they were born in Russia. Each was held in $500 bail for examination tomorrow by the federal authorities.

Owen Cattell, one of the Columbia University students arrested earlier in the day on the charge of engaging in a conspiracy to violate the draft law, but later released on bail, was an usher at the conference meeting.

Interposed among those on the speaker's platform and in the audience were attaches of the office of the United States district attorney and scores of agents of the department of justice.

AUSTRIAN POLES ARE DEMANDING FREE POLAND

DECLARE EMPEROR SHOULD ADMIT MOVEMENT WHICH WOULD GUARANTEE EVERLASTING PEACE.

Copenhagen, Via London, June 7.—A national convention of Austrian Poles, which was held in Cracow during the Whit Sunday holidays, unanimously endorsed a resolution of the Parliamentary Polish club calling for a re-establishment of free and independent Poland with access to the sea. The convention declared that international regulations of this question would constitute a guarantee of lasting peace.

The resolution also expressed the hope that the Austrian emperor would support the project in the certainty that the re-establishment of the Polish state through Austrian help would assure to the monarchy a natural and reliable ally. After its adoption the resolution, which is a virtual appeal for independence and separation from Austria and the Hapsburg dynasty was read from the city hall balcony to a vast crowd and greeted with thunderous applause.

Apparently there was no interference from the Austrian authorities although Cracow, as a fortress, is crowded with Austrian troops. The resolution is noteworthy for the absence of any reference to Germany, although it is notorious that Polish hopes for an access to the sea are based upon the acquisition of Prussian Danzig. The poles also aspire to the inclusion in an independent state of Warsaw and that part of the Russian Poland which is now in the hands of the Germans.

POISONED PENCIL IS LATEST PRUSSIAN DEVICE

SHARPEN IT AND IT EXPLODES MAIMING OR KILLING THE SHARPENER.

Christiania, June 2.—An amazing collection of bombs, bacilli of deadly disease and destruction has been seized by the authorities here as part of the baggage of Baron von Rosen, a Swedish nobleman and alleged to be a German agent. The Baron fled to Norway after his activities had aroused the Swedish authorities. He was arrested, but, as he could not be convicted for violating any Norwegian law, he was released, with a warning to leave the country.

Baron von Rosen's field of operations was along the Swedish-Finnish border. His purpose is supposed to have been the destruction of Russian food and munition stores, but what success he had is not known. When he fled from Sweden last January, part of his baggage was seized by the Swedish authorities and found to contain a large quantity of high explosives, packed in tin cans marked "corned beef." It remained, however, for the Norwegian police to uncover the real extent of his equipment.

After the Baron had been ordered out of Norway those parts of his baggage which had not been seized in Sweden arrived in Christiania and were turned over to the police. Among the articles found were cans of explosives marked "table salt," bottles marked "mouth wash," containing cultures of dangerous bacilli identified by the State health Laboratory; boxes of lump sugar, each lump concealing a small vial filled with bacilli of anthrax of glanders, and several explosive pencils.

The latter article is an ingenious infernal machine and a departure in ingenuity, so far as the authorities here are aware. It has the appearance of an ordinary pencil, but if sharpened a drop of acid concealed in a thin glass tube is released and, acting on other concealed chemicals, causes an explosion sufficient to maim or perhaps kill the sharpener.

One scheme of Baron von Rosen in which the poisoned sugar lumps were to figure is believed to have been directed against the great traffic stream which the war has called into being between the northern Norwegian town of Narvik and Finland. A tremendous tide of merchandise flows into Russia along this road by horse and three thousand horses are used for freightage goods, and barns have been constructed along the road for their accommodation. The scheme attributed to Baron von Rosen was to put the poisoned sugar in the feed boxes of the horses and start an epidemic among the horses which would cripple the whole transportation system.

The revelations in regard to what the Baron described as his "scientific expedition" has aroused great indignation here and the authorities are severely blamed for releasing the Baron. There have been some cases of infectious diseases among horses at places where Baron von Rosen stayed, but his responsibility has not been proved.

GERMAN LEADER HELD
ANNEXATION ESSENTIAL

BISSING NEVER CHANGED HIS VIEW BELGIUM SHOULD BE RULED BY GERMANY.

Copenhagen, June 4.—The late Governor General Bissing, of Belgium, maintained until the day of his death his belief in the necessity of the complete annexation of Belgium to Germany. German advocates of moderate peace have been asserting that Von Bissing changed the views he expressed in the memorandum he addressed to the emperor advocating annexation. This is disproved by a letter written by Von Bissing on January 14 to the reichstag deputy, Dr. Stresemann.

In this letter General Von Bissing declared that the war was lost if Belgium, at the end of the war, was not given to Germany, by rule and exploit in Germany's interest. He chided those "superficial thinkers who wish to content themselves with guarantees of a paper nature or who consider the Meuse line an adequate frontier which we need."

Von Bissing goes on to say that the frontier needed to protect Belgium against England and France must be advanced as far as conceivable northward and that the coast is and must be part of the frontier. The governor general declared that he had labored secretly but steadily to build up "connections" to support this program. He added that if these secret connections were maintained in him and would come when Germany would be compensated through Belgium for her great sacrifices in the war.

Von Bissing continued by saying that his policy toward the Flemings and the Belgian church was inspired and guided by this thought: "Perhaps Cardinal Mercier will be surprised to read that the general conducted his church policy with "wise moderation" and also his opinion that: "I should perhaps have had an easier time along Kulturkampf lines, (referring to Bismarck's Kulturkampf or war with the Roman Catholic church), but we need the church when once we wish to bring German methods and German labors into effect in Belgium."

In conclusion Von Bissing spoke of the confidence the emperor showed in him and would come when Germany would be compensated through Belgium for her great sacrifices in the war.

Dr. Taylor, although pleaded with by convention leaders to leave the stage, refused. He placed a chair at the edge of the stage and said he would wait until order was restored and then proceeded. Many more angry protests came from the floor, and one man started to sing "America." He was joined by others.

Dr. Truett of Texas, finally restored order after delivering a few patriotic remarks. Dr. Taylor proceeded, but his speech was of a different nature. He spoke of how much he loved the Stars and Stripes, and how good it was to see that lovely old banner in a foreign land, standing out in bold relief against the dragons and other repulsive characters on the flag of foreign nations."

YOUNG MEN PLANNING TO

Atlanta, June 5.—Scores of Atlanta high school boys, a little too old for Boy Scouts and a little too young to enlist in the army or navy, are planning to do their bit this summer, and at the same time turn a well-earned penny, by going to the farms and taking the places of older men who have enlisted, and the places of negroes who have deserted the farms at the behest of labor agents who are bringing them to northern cities, where the promised high wages usually turn out to be a cruel deception. This is not a war of hate—it is a war for humanity, a war in the love of humanity.

Dr. Taylor proceeded for a few moments while a whisper ran through the delegates regarding the trend of the speech. At this juncture, Dr. J. W. ## A Sensible Car at a Sensible Price GRANT SIX $875

SUPPOSE you are thinking of paying up to $1200 for a car. For that same amount you can not only buy a GRANT SIX but you will have left more than enough to buy gasoline and tires for three years.

For the average man the GRANT SIX is the sensible car to buy. You get a good looking, sturdy, five-passenger car that will do anything and go anywhere that is possible with a car costing several hundred dollars more.

On November 5, 1916, a stock GRANT SIX made a 1000-mile non-stop trip averaging 21.25 miles to a gallon of gasoline. A GRANT SIX backed up 9 1/2 miles of the steep Mt. Wilson road. Not only in "stunts" like these, but in everyday running, GRANT SIX performance has never been rivaled by a car in its price class.

HOW SAVANNAH MINISTER STIRRED THE CONVENTION

REFUSED TO LEAVE THE STAGE WHEN LEADERS ASKED THAT HE DO SO.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune publishes the following interesting account of the affair which occurred in the recent Southern Baptist convention, in which Rev. J. J. Taylor, from Savannah, was the central figure.

"Dr. J. J. Taylor of Savannah, Ga., in delivering an address supposed to relate to a report of a committee on the world crisis, uttered remarks branded as seditious and unloyal and created a sensation in the night session of the convention. Saturday which almost resulted in his removal from the stage bodily. Ministers who previously had taken but little part in the convention proceedings arose in angry protest to the speaker's remarks, and pleaded with Dr. J. T. Henderson, acting chairman, to prevent the speaker from proceeding.

"The address of Dr. Taylor was in itself a protest to applause which had been given generously to an address delivered by President Gambrell, treating on the present world crisis and dealing with the soldier boys of Uncle Sam, who were bidding their fathers and mothers good-bye and going forth to fight a battle in defense of democracy. Dr. Taylor declared that this applause was not approved by him, and that he did not believe any real Christian could do so, for they were applauding war, they were applauding the death of millions of men.

"He went on to speak of the teachings of hatred to soldiers of the armies now actively engaged in the great conflict across the seas. He related experiences he declared he had heard while preaching in England and France. He recalled the occasion of the first German killed in Paris. 'The Parisians, mad, it seemed, splashed their hands in the German's blood and ran through the streets, smearing it on passersby. That is hatred.' This was in contrast to the remarks by Dr. Gambrell, who said: 'This is not a war of hate—it is a war for humanity, a war in the love of humanity.'

Dr. Taylor proceeded for a few moments while a whisper ran through the delegates regarding the trend of the speech. At this juncture, Dr. J. W. McCall of Texarkana, Tex., arose from his seat, turned to the audience and said: "Is there no way a loyal American can be relieved from hearing such unloyal remarks as these?" ## $50,000 LIBERTY BONDS MAXWELL PRIZE OFFER

ANOTHER ECONOMY CONTEST WILL BE GIVEN BY THIS CAR ON JUNE 16.

With a score of 39.07 miles per gallon for 50 cars, and 27.47 for 892 cars, the nation-wide Maxwell gasoline economy demonstration on May 23rd has inspired the Maxwell Motor Company to put up $50,000 for another great one-gallon gasoline economy contest.

United States Liberty bonds are to be the prizes in this second event. The contest is for Maxwell owners exclusively, dealers being barred.

The Maxwell company expects to get an entry list of 40,000 owners' cars for this second contest, which is to take place all over the United States from June 16 to 25.

Of the $50,000 in U. S. Liberty bonds to be awarded by the Maxwell company, $25,000 worth of the bonds are to be awarded as owners' prizes for mileage made on one gallon of gasoline.

The other $25,000 will go to the dealers as rewards for assisting the company to make the stupendous undertaking a success.

The conception of this big event originated with Walter E. Flanders, president and general manager of the Maxwell Motor Co., Inc. It was directly inspired by results of the dealers' contest of May 23rd.

THE COUNTRY'S RESPONSE.

The wholeheartedness with which the country entered into the duties of Registration day bears splendid witness to the American people's loyalty and resoluteness for the times of heroic test now upon them. Ten million young men were expected to enroll for national service, and ten million or more came sturdily forward. The nation's young manhood has volunteered in mass to fight for the flag, and back of them stand many millions more, ready to serve however they can.

Throughout Dixie the response to the President's call for enrollment was answered with unanimity and enthusiasm. The splendid patriotism with which Bulloch county observed the day is characteristic of all Georgia and all the South. There were no slackers, no grumblers; there were only men, staunch of heart and ready for duty.

In every state in the Union the response was worthy of American traditions and ideals. The people of the United States have spoken in terms which leave no doubt that their hearts are in the war for liberty and that every sinew of their strength will be given to defeat the brutal Prussianism which has trampled upon their rights and which threatens all things they hold dear.

A SENSATIONAL PULPIT.

Rev. Mr. Taylor, the Baptist minister, from Savannah who recently created a sensation at the Southern Baptist convention in New Orleans by his attitude against the patriotic sentiment which had allowed itself to creep into the convention, would probably act differently if he were called upon to traverse the way again.

The newspaper statements against the Savannah minister "rigorously followed the patriotic remarks of Dr. J. B. Gambrell of Dallas, president of the convention, treating with the world crisis."

In answer to this, the doctor took occasion to declare in the public prints upon his return home that there was "not a word of truth in the statement from the beginning to end." This disposition of the doctor would be satisfactory to Dr. Taylor, but it was not to the Savannah newspaper which first carried the Associated Press dispatches reporting the affair. The editor of the newspaper addressed a couple of inquiries as to whether he was responsible for the published statement that there was "not a word of truth" in the New Orleans story, but the doctor has not given a satisfactory answer to the editor. Following the correspondence the Morning News concludes a lengthy editorial on the subject with the statement:

"Plainly the story from New Orleans told the story, despite Dr. Taylor's reported statement, which he has declined two opportunities to deny, that there was 'not a word of truth in it.'"

It is regretted that there are in all professions, in the pulpit as well as others, men who pander for notoriety on which to thrive. It may be that Doctor Taylor is not one of this class, yet his conduct throughout this affair has been rather against him.

With perfect right he could have improved a public demonstration with a thing of which he did not approve, even the matter which seemed to involve loyalty to the nation, if he chose to—yet he would have no right to deny the part he had played in the affair when he found that it was unpopular. Sensationalism does not hold a lasting place in the esteem of right thinking people, and especially of the pulpit to hold itself to the path of modesty and conservatism.

MONEY TALKS.

I am one hundred dollars. I am one hundred dollars that you have saved.

As a prudent citizen, remembering that there are rainy as well as sunny days, you have accumulated me.

With me you can buy a share of railroad or industrial stock. Or you can put me in a savings bank. And in each case your investment will be safe and you will draw interest.

But now there is a chance, a great chance, to make an investment that is both safe and patriotic. Your country is at war. By and by it will begin raising an army. You may not be selected to bear arms, but you can do your bit.

The nation's army, your army fighting your battles, will need food and clothing and arms and ammunition. It will have to travel from drill camps to support. It will have to embark for the shores of France. It will have to reach the trenches so that it can help make your liberty safe. It will have to fight for democracy so that you can go on enjoying freedom and opportunity and can bequeath these things to your children and your children's children.

All these things cost money. Children alone can do nothing. The motive power of dollars is necessary. Your country needs gold as well as men.

Money talks. And the talk it gives you that I, $100, will be not only one in one of these United States bonds, but that I will be a good saving investment.

I will pay 3 1/2 per cent interest every year, and this interest can't be taxed.

I will be as easy to change into gold or silver or greenbacks as a $5 bill because I can be sold any time—any minute.

CARD OF THANKS.

We take this method of thanking our dear friends for their many kindnesses and thoughtful and loving ministrations unto us during our great bereavement.

Especially those who unselfishly laid aside their business and household cares and came and ministered unto us; those who went to meet the body of our dear boy, and those who sent so many beautiful floral tributes of love and esteem. We thank you and want you to know that while our hearts are still heavy with grief, your kindness has helped to brighten our heavy burden of sorrow. May God abundantly bless and reward you all.

W. W. MIKELL and Family.

IN MEMORIAM.

On February 25th, the death angel came into the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Williams, and took away their little son, Morgan.

Although Morgan was only eight years old, he had a true sense of duty, and he was faithful in doing whatever he undertook. He loved his books, and though a small lad, he was leader both in his class and in his school. He had a bright sunny disposition and greeted everyone with a smile. We miss the touch of his little hand and the smile of his little face.

He died in the Park View Hospital, Savannah, Ga., after suffering great pain from blood poisoning.

We do not want you back, dear boy, but we do want to meet you at that home beyond the skies. Call not back the dear departed.

Anchored safe where storms are over. On the border land we left him. Soon to meet and part no more.

When we leave this world of changes. When we leave this world of care, We shall find our missing loved one In our Father's mansion fair.

His Teacher.

MAKE OUR CATTLE FEED OUR SOLDIERS

Tick Elimination Means More Meat For The Southern States.

Washington, June 6.—Faced by the demand for more meat, let us take advantage of an opportunity which lies close to our abundant grasses, cheap and available concentrated feeds, and our mild climate to produce a thing of which he did not approve, even the matter which seemed to involve loyalty to the nation, if he chose to—yet he would have no right to deny the part he had played in the affair when he found that it was unpopular. Sensationalism does not hold a lasting place in the esteem of right thinking people, and especially of the pulpit to hold itself to the path of modesty and conservatism.

Not only will the elimination of the tick make possible the greater and more profitable development of a native cattle. It will make possible also the bringing in of better beef and milk producing stock which now cannot live under the attacks of ticks and the deadly germs of cattle fever which they transmit. Extermination of the tick, therefore, will give us quick, direct returns in the form of increased growth of native stock, and it will at the same time lay a firm foundation for the building up of a much more profitable cattle raising industry in a year or two—while the war still may be in progress.

The South's battle against the tick must not lag. It is not work which may be dropped during the course of war, the U. S. Department of Agriculture points out. Rather it must be pushed the more vigorously in order that unsatisfactory and often unprofitable cattle raising which the tick imposes, and devoted to the more efficient and more profitable production of meat and milk which may be carried on in unquarantined territory. The tick works for our enemies by keeping down the supply of those of our most important foods. Let us recognize this pest, therefore, as an enemy also. And let us wage against him, from today on, without interruption, a war of extermination.

DIRECTORS OF FAIR BEGIN PREPARATIONS

COMMITTEES APPOINTED TO LOOK AFTER VARIOUS PHASES OF COUNTY FAIR.

The directors of the Bulloch County Fair Association held their first meeting last Monday evening for the purpose of setting afoot plans for the coming county fair. Committees were appointed for the various phases of the work, and from this date on things will begin to shape up.

The date for the fair was not definitely settled upon, this being left to be selected after consultation with various amusement features which it is proposed to procure. A number of other local and district fairs are to be held in this territory within the months of October and November, and it is deemed wise to select a date which shall not conflict. It is regarded as probable that the date will be the early part of November.

Officers elected for the management of the fair are J. W. Williams, president; J. E. Brannen, vice-president and general manager; W. F. Whitley, secretary, treasurer and assistant general manager.

President Williams appointed the following committees:

Location—F. D. Olliff, F. E. Field, W. H. Kennedy.

Premium List—F. E. Field, W. F. Whitley, J. E. McCroon.

Advertising Soliciting—F. D. Olliff, Hinton Booth, J. W. Williams.

General Advertising—W. F. Whitley, Hinton Booth, J. E. Brannen.

To Co-operate with Bulloch French Plant—Hinton Booth, J. E. McCroon and W. T. Smith.

Another meeting of the directors will be held next Monday evening and weekly thereafter.

The directors will go in a body next Tuesday to Dublin to confer with the management of the fair association at that place.

GERMANS THREATEN TO EXTEND OBJECTS

TROOPS SAY IF FORCED TO KEEP FIGHTING WILL EN-LARGE AIMS.

London, June 10.—It was after General Dragomiroff had curtly rejected the peace proposals made to him by German military emissaries about the middle of May, according to a Russian commander-in-chief, the German commander-in-chief, the Western front sent wireless messages to all Russian troops proposing an armistice by which, as he naively suggested, Russo-German military operations could be suspended without Russian defection from their allies.

The German commander-in-chief declared that his country with her allies was ready to meet the desire of the Russian soldiers' delegates and end the bloodshed by concluding a peace honorable to both sides, thereby reestablishing the former neighborly relations and giving economic support for Russia.

The message invited Russia to send plenipotentiaries if she wished to know the German conditions, but at the same time to abstain from demanding the publication of these conditions so long as she considered herself bound by the secret treaties made by former governments for the purpose of "destroying Germany and her allies."

The message then specified the objects for which Germany's enemies were declared to be fighting. These are said to include the possession of the German colonies Alsace and Lorraine, Trieste, Constantinople, the partition of Asia Minor and the levying of a heavy indemnity upon the Central powers.

The radiogram closed by affirming Germany's continued ability to fight on fronts, instancing previous simultaneous operations in Volynia, Roumania, on the Isonzo and the Somme. Consequently it was reiterated that General Pershing was an independent commander, such as Marshal Haig, necessarily co-operating with the French command which is on French soil.

Boulogne, France, June 13.—Major-General John L. Pershing, accompanied by his staff, today put his foot on French soil as commander of the American military expedition, French, British, Belgian and Indian officers and soldiers saluted their new ally, the American nation.

On the quay was a brilliant assemblage of French officers and officials. Standing or clinging to vantage points everywhere about the maritime station and on the landing stage were thousands of soldiers.

As the gang plank was let down on the quay the Star Spangled Banner was changed into the stirring Marseillaise and Rene Bassard, under secretary of war, and General Dumas, commander of the northern district of France, went aboard to extend official greetings. Only a few words were exchanged. General Dumas said:

"We know you have come to see the light through, and we welcome you in the name of civilization and humanity."

Shortly after he had stepped ashore, General Pershing addressed two newspaper correspondents, who gathered about him as follows:

"Undoubtedly this is a most impressive day for all of us—the arrival of the vanguard of the American forces in France. It has impressed us all very deeply."

"I feel warranted in saying that America is in the war to do her share whatever that share may turn out to be, whether great or small. I feel every assurance in saying that that can be fully counted on."

COMPULSORY SERVICE.

Ottawa, June 12.—A bill for compulsory military service by Canadians of the ages of 20 and 45 years was presented in the house of commons by premier, Sir Robert Borden.

Paris, June 14.—The South Atlantic branch of the Cunard line, with 550 passengers on board, has been torpedoed and sunk, with a loss of 190 men.
